

AIA SLAC Fact Sheet

AIA Student Leadership Advisory Committee (SLAC)

In 2018, the Arizona Interscholastic Association (AIA) established the AIA Student Leadership Advisory Committee (SLAC). Student leaders from around the state serve on the SLAC, which focuses on establishing an inclusive and encouraging atmosphere for all; empowering students to develop as leaders and advocates for their communities; and supporting the community our students participate in, one activity at a time.

We're inviting you to join the AIA SLAC team! We want for your voice to be heard and represent our Unified movement as one Unified Athlete and one Unified Partner on the committee. By committing yourself as a member of SLAC, you'll be recognized as an outstanding youth student leader and paving the way for your communities.

We are looking for one exceptional Unified Athlete and Unified Partner to be a part of the SLAC team. We need those who are committed and passionate and who are looking to represent their Unified pride. We would love incoming freshman, or sophomores who are willing to serve at minimum 2 years on the SLAC.
